There's an exciting new change to the website! Tanya has been working on a new page that will soon allow you to download not only the new songs that we've been working on that are not on any album yet, some rehearsal, some concert version, but also full concerts for your listening pleasure. We're doing this on a donation system. If you wish to pay for the music, great, if not, please share it among your friends, get our name out there and send new fans to our website. It is coming along slowly. There are a couple of songs available right now and there should be more by the beginning of next week at the latest. Visit regularly to see what is new!

So many of you have come up to us after a show and said, "which album is 'Thus and Such' song on?" And we have had to reply, "Well, we just started performing it tonight, or last week, or we haven't done it in years and we no longer have a recording of it, or there's a version on this album that sounds nothing like what we just did."

Here is our solution. We will start putting up concert versions of new

Home Grown House Concerts

As we tour across the country, we are always happy to put on a house concert, especially mid week in somebody's home, or in someone's church, etc. Please contact us if you're interested in hosting a Home Grown House Concert while we're in your area. We will be in Indiana and Kentucky in August, the Northeast in September and early to Mid October, Arizona and California in Late October and November and in Colorado in December. Please visit our website, www.themusesmusic.com/hghe.htm for more information

We are all having some much needed time off before we head south to Texas for a week of touring. We'll be doing 3 shows in Corpus Christi, 2 nights at Cassidy's Irish Pub and one library show, then one night in Dallas at Poor David's Pub and one night in Austin where our good friend Jessica is hosting a Home Grown House Concert for us at her home in Pflugerville (just outside of Austin). Then we're home for the summer, all of us doing various different things, including the Wyoming Celtic Festival in June. We're looking forward to both this tour and a chance to rest up for the upcoming fall season of touring, which we expect to be full and long as always. We are pleased to say that while we were in Milwaukee the folks from Irishfest did hear us and do now know who we are, so those of you Muses fans who go to Irishfest, please keep whispering in the proper ears that you'd love to see us there in 2009! We hope it will work and that we'll be among the chosen bands playing there in a year or so. Speaking of being among the chosen bands, THIS YEAR, we are among the chosen bands to perform at the Longs Peak Scottish Irish Highlands Festival and Games (Or the Estes Park Games as it is known to some) and we hope to see many of you there! We'll be performing all weekend on the stage nearest the clan tents and we're pleased to be sharing the stage with our good friends Ocean's Apart from Arizona. We expect it to be windy as ever so come on up and enjoy a great time!

You probably already know that we just got back from quite a bit of touring. There are about ninety days from February through April, and we have been on tour for seventy seven of them. We spent fourteen days in Hawaii, and in that time took eleven flights and played twenty concerts! Somehow we STILL managed to have a lot of fun and make many new friends. We have a much more detailed travelog out on the Blog, so if you are interested in any of the details from ANY of our tours, you can always go to the archive and check back on our misadventures and many escapades.

Thanks for staying in touch with us and keeping an eye out for what we are up to! It's looking like a good year so far, here's hoping that yours is as well! If we aren't already coming to a town near you, then keep an eye out for venues near you and... you can always book a house concert! ;-)

See you down the road.
-The Muses
